SHORT-TERM TRIPS

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

We are very excited that you will be coming to assist us in our work in Metro New York. This guide was created to help you prepare for your trip and is divided into 4 modules. It is suggested that you study one module every two weeks with your group so you can fully process the information provided. Please encourage each team member to read each module before you meet so that everyone can participate in the discussion. The important thing is not to read together when you meet, but to do activities based on the readings- discussing implications of your readings, prayer walking together, practicing sharing the Good News... whatever the particular module calls for. Those who take action on the Word of God are the ones prepared to change the world for Christ!

VISION & FOUNDATIONS

The first question that must be answered in undertaking such a great task as world evangelization is, “why?” Why send out the workers, why spend the money, why involve the churches, why do it at all? Without a solid understanding of why these things are done in the first place, credible and effective methods and strategies cannot be developed. In this chapter, two articles are presented to help in this learning process.

Also included are two additional articles, dealing with the strategic nature of Metro New York, our vision for reaching the unreached, and how you, the short-term team, will assist us in the task. We have given our lives to reach unreached peoples here and we have a desire for them to then reach back to their home countries with the Gospel. This is happening! As a team, we have also made a commitment to only do activities that are strategic in reaching the unreached with the gospel of Jesus. This extends to our use of short-term teams. Please make sure you pay special attention to how you fit within our strategy.

There Is No Greater Satisfaction – A God Centered Motivation For World Missions

BY JOHN PIPER

Duty is good. But delight is better. Picture me bringing a dozen roses home to my wife on our wedding anniversary. I hold them out to her at the door, she smiles and says, “Oh, Johnny, they’re beautiful, why did you?” Suppose I lift my hand in a self-effacing gesture and say, “It’s my duty.” So what’s wrong? Is duty a bad thing? No, it’s not a bad thing. But it can only take you so far. If you want romance, duty won’t reach. The right answer to my wife’s question goes like this:

“I couldn’t help myself. My happiness just got out of hand. In fact, to make my day, I’d really enjoy asking you out tonight.”

The amazing thing about this answer is that it does two things that many people think won’t fit together. It expresses my happiness and makes her feel honored. A lot of people think that if I do something because it makes me happy, it can’t honor another person. But it can! Why? Because delighting in someone is a very high compliment. If you enjoy someone, two amazing things happen: you get the joy, they get the glory. Pleasure is the measure of your treasure. This is a revolutionary insight in relation to God. Here’s what it means: God is most glorified in you when you are most satisfied in Him. This is a radically life-changing discovery. It means that the pursuit of God’s glory and the pursuit of your joy are not at odds. They are, in fact, one.

The chief end of man is to glorify God BY enjoying Him forever. Not by enjoying money and comfort and prestige and power and achievement, but by enjoying HIM, God – and every other good thing for God’s sake. As St. Augustine prayed, “He loves you too little who loves anything together with you, which he loves not for your sake.” The Biblical command, “Delight yourself in the Lord,” (Psalm 37:4) is another way of saying, “Do all to the glory of God” (1 Corinthians 10:31). God is most glorified in you when you are most satisfied in Him.

God is most glorified in you when you are most satisfied in Him.

And the greatest passion of God’s heart is to be glorified. He created us for His glory (Isaiah 43:7); He called Israel to be His people for His glory (Isaiah 49:3); Jesus lived (John 17:4) and died (John 12:27-28; Romans 3:25-26) and rose (Romans 6:4) and reigns (Philippians 2:11) for the glory of God; He chose us before the foundation of the world for His glory (Ephesians 1:4-6); He forgives us for His glory (Psalm 25:11; Isaiah 43:25); He works through us for His glory (1 Peter 4:11); He calls us to do all things for His glory (1 Corinthians 10:31); and His aim is that the earth will be covered with the knowledge of His glory the way the waters cover the sea (Habakkuk 2:14), and in the age to come that the glory of the Lord alone will be the awesome light of endless days (Revelation 21:23).

If the glory of God is the highest passion of His own heart, then it should be the highest passion of ours. And if God is most glorified in us when we are most satisfied in Him, then we should spare nothing to maximize our joy in Him. But where is this maximum joy to be found?

Well, we have already said it: in God! Yes, but here we can make a very subtle and devastating mistake. Be careful.

There is something about the nature of true joy that is restless. It is expansive by nature. It wants out. Imagine me at my son’s soccer championship, and someone saying to me, “You are permitted to have all the pleasure you want in your son’s performance, but you may not express any of it verbally or physically.” Would my joy be full? No. There is something about joy that comes to consummation when it gets out. Joy gets bigger by expanding. Joy increases by extending itself to others. My gladness gets bigger when it becomes your gladness.

This means that the human quest for joy leads straight to the missionary heart of God. You can see it already. But let me put it together. God is the fountain of joy because He is blindingly glorious, and infinitely worthy, and breathtakingly beautiful, and awesome in power, and inscrutable in wisdom, and limitless in knowledge, and tender in mercy, and terrible in wrath, and the source and foundation of all truth and goodness and beauty. When we see Him for who He really is, and turn from all the broken cisterns of the world that cannot satisfy (Jeremiah 2:13), we find “joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Peter 1:8).

But this joy, like all joy, wants out. It wants to expand. If it doesn’t extend itself and overflow, it begins to stagnate. There is something about God that cannot be hoarded. And to hoard joy in God is to lose joy in God. But to lose joy in God is to dishonor

God—just like my wife would be dishonored if I said, “It’s my duty,” instead of “It’s my delight.” God is most glorified in us when we are most satisfied in Him.

Therefore our joy must get out—for God’s sake and for our sake. God wills for His glory to be reflected in the joy of redeemed people from every tribe and tongue and nation (Revelation 7:9). He wills worldwide praise. Therefore world evangelization is the pathway to maximum joy and maximum worship.

Missions exists because worship doesn’t.

Missions is not the ultimate goal of the church. The glory of God is the ultimate goal of the church—because it’s the ultimate goal of God. The final goal of all things is that God might be worshipped with white-hot affection by a redeemed company of countless persons from every tribe and tongue and people and nation (Revelation 5:9; 7:9). Missions exists because worship doesn’t. When the kingdom finally comes in glory, missions will cease. Missions is penultimate, worship is ultimate. If we forget this and reverse their roles the passion and the power for both diminish.

J. Campbell White, the secretary of the Laymen’s Missionary Movement wrote in 1909:

“Most men are not satisfied with the permanent output of their lives. Nothing can wholly satisfy the life of Christ within His followers except the adoption of Christ’s purpose toward the world He came to redeem. Fame, pleasure and riches are but husks and ashes in contrast with the boundless and abiding joy of working with God for the fulfillment of His eternal plans. The men who are putting everything into Christ’s undertaking are getting out of life its sweetest and most priceless rewards.”

This is the testimony of virtually all the great missionaries in the history of the church. Pouring out their lives brought their lives back to them. They proved again and again the words of the Lord, “He who loses his life for my sake and the gospel’s will save it” (Mark 8:38). In other words, joy in God grows by expanding toward others. Jesus said to Peter, “There is no one who has left house or brother or sister or mother or father or children or lands, for my sake and for the gospel, who will not receive a hundredfold now in this time, houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions, and in the age to come eternal life” (Mark 10:29-30). You can’t out-give God.

On December 4, 1857, David Livingstone, the great pioneer missionary to Africa, made a stirring appeal to the students of Cambridge University, showing what he had learned about these words of Jesus through the years:

“For my own part, I have never ceased to rejoice that God has appointed me to such an office. People talk of the sacrifice I have made in spending so much of my life in Africa... Is that a sacrifice which brings its own blest reward in healthful activity, the consciousness of doing good, peace of mind, and a bright hope of a glorious destiny hereafter? It is emphatically no sacrifice. Say rather it is a privilege. Anxiety, sickness, suffering, or danger, now and then, with a foregoing of the common conveniences and charities of this life, may make us pause, and cause the spirit to waver, and the soul to sink; but let this only be for a moment. All these are nothing when compared with the glory which shall be revealed in and for us. I never made a sacrifice.”

And in saying that, Livingstone paid his God the highest tribute possible. It was not mere duty. It was a profound delight - beyond what anything in this world can give. God was glorified in him because he was satisfied in God. And his satisfaction came to consummation not with the comforts of cozy life in England, but with the expansive vision of giving his life and his joy away on the frontiers. That’s it. That’s the most profound, God-centered motivation. It makes my heart beat faster even as I think about it again. O, may God give us eyes to see where true satisfaction can be found—to the glory of God!

HABAKKUK 2:14

The Strategic Nature Of Metro New York

The 2010 Global Cities Index ranked NYC as the world's top global city. At a time when technology has connected the entire world, it's large and diverse immigrant population, coupled with its global influence, make Metro New York one of the most strategic places at the most strategic time in history to "make disciples of all nations."

1. If the members of unreached people groups living in Metro New York were collectively counted as a city, they would form the second largest city in the United States.
2. There are over 2 million Jews in Metro New York. New York City has the largest Jewish population of any city in the world, and Metro New York has the 2nd largest Jewish population of any Metropolitan area in the world.
3. There are over 1,000,000 Muslims in Metro New York. This means that 1 out of every 10 Muslims in the US live in the Metro New York area.
4. Over 400,000 Hindus live in NYC with very little Gospel witness.
5. NYC is home to some of the best universities in the US including Columbia University and NYU. Over 50,000 international students and scholars, many from unreached people groups and least evangelized countries, come here to study every year.
6. NYC is home to 2,000 foreign-based businesses, more than any other US city.
7. The United Nations has 193 permanent missions and 113 consulates in NYC, employing approximately 25,000 people from 175 different countries.
8. As of 2008, over 650,000 Chinese live in Metro New York—the largest number of Chinese in the Western Hemisphere.
9. Queens is the most ethnically diverse county in the US and half of the people in Queens were born in another country. Around 60-65% of NYC is foreign-born or children of foreign-born.
10. Approximately 800 languages are spoken in NYC, making it one of (if not the most) linguistically diverse cities in the world. Over 48% of New York residents speak a language other than English in their homes.
11. NYC serves as the American hub for East Asians, South Asians, West Africans, Caribbeans, South Americans, Russians, and others.

Trends indicate that by the year 2030 over 75% of the world's population will live in major cities. Because cities are the influential centers, the effect of ministry to unreached people groups residing in these cities goes beyond the borders of the city into the world.

The world's demographics continue to change as people groups migrate and move into foreign international cities. Many of these people represent the influential thinkers and policy makers of their nations. Those that are not influencers of nations, are, at the very least, major influencers in their villages, neighborhoods, and families.

Being away from home, some are more receptive to the Gospel message. This shift in demographics gives us a wonderful opportunity to reach people who have been unexposed to the Gospel and who can have a powerful voice to their own people and in their native lands.

It is for these reasons that Global Gates has such a focus on Metro New York. There is much work to be done here!

INDEED, I AM OFTEN THRILLED BY THE THOUGHT THAT THE LONG, HEALING SHADOW OF MY FATHER'S LIFE TOUCHES CITY MISSIONS AND FALLS UPON THE FOREIGNERS THAT COME IN SUCH VAST THROGS FROM THE ENDS OF THE EARTH TO SETTLE IN OUR GREAT CITIES. WE USED TO THINK OF THEM AS A MENACE, BUT HAVE LEARNED TO REGARD THEM AS AN OPPORTUNITY. IT WOULD SEEM AS IF OUR HEAVENLY FATHER, PERCEIVING THAT WE CHRISTIANS OF AMERICA WERE SO VITALLY INTERESTED IN FOREIGN RACES AS TO SEND OUR BEST MEN AND WOMEN TO THEM WITH THE GOSPEL, PAYING THEIR TRAVELING EXPENSES AND MAINTENANCE, DEEMED IT WISE TO PUT IN THE HEARTS OF THE HEATHEN TO COME FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD TO OUR SHORES, PAYING THEIR OWN EXPENSES. -EDWARD JUDSON (SON OF ADONIRAM JUDSON AND PASTOR OF A NYC CHURCH), 1914.

Our Vision for UPGs in Metro New York

As stated in the opening article by John Piper, the fact that God's name is not praised in every land among every people is an injustice against God that often escapes many Christians who do not realize that any place without the knowledge and praise of the Creator is a world turned upside down and inside out.

Why does missions happen? Is it simply to fulfill a sense of obligation in a believer, in a church, or a denomination? Is it simply about going out to do mass evangelism to get as many "converts" as possible so we can pat ourselves on the back when we get home and to have a great praise report to give? Is it about social work and humanitarian service that if done alone may feed mouths but will leave hearts empty? Is this what missions means? What if it means something deeper?

What if underlying the Great Commission and the command to go and make disciples of all nations (literally ethnic groups), is exactly what John Piper was talking about, God's passionate pursuit of the task to make Himself and His Glory known to all people? If it is, then we must change. We must re-think our methods, our assumptions, and even be willing to throw out everything we thought we knew about what it means to reach the world for Christ. We must adjust our thinking to understand that missions means joining with God on His mission to glorify Himself among the nations. It's not about us, our plans, our goals, our name - it's about Him.

It is obedience to the command to make disciples of the nations that drives our team to reach UPGs in Metro New York.

OUR VISION

The effort to reach least-reached peoples in Metro NY is about making the Glory of God known in the person of Christ. This passion is fulfilled in seeing men and women and young people not only come to know God, but learn who He is through personal discipleship that leads to them having the same heart for their people to know God's Glory. This passion is also fulfilled in seeing not merely a single group of believers meeting, but in spontaneous reproducing locally-led house churches that reflect the culture of the people group (rather than Western culture) and result in a church planting movement led by locals to reach their own people.

Our Vision for Short-Term Teams

Short-term teams, like all of us, are one link in the Body that works together for His Glory. Some cultivate, some sow, some water, but it is God who produces the harvest (I Cor. 3:5-9; John 4:34-35). Our vision for short-term teams are as follows:

- 1 To share the gospel with the UPGs in a Biblically and culturally appropriate manner.
- 2 To battle for the hearts and minds of UPGs in Metro NY by praying over the areas where they live, asking God to bring His kingdom there.
- 3 To provide a potential base of people who might be interested in returning to work in Metro NY.
- 4 To discern the spiritual state of individuals and their families in order to help connect them to long-term workers.

"SO NEITHER HE WHO PLANTS NOR HE WHO WATERS IS ANYTHING, BUT ONLY GOD WHO GIVES THE GROWTH. HE WHO PLANTS AND HE WHO WATERS ARE ONE, AND EACH WILL RECEIVE HIS WAGES ACCORDING TO HIS LABOR. FOR WE ARE GOD'S FELLOW WORKERS." I CORINTHIANS 3:7-9

SPIRITUAL PREPARATION

The following are some key resources to assist you in the months and weeks leading up to your trip that will help you prepare spiritually to be used by God. Amazingly, many teams spend weeks planning logistics and travel details but little or no time preparing spiritually, and then are amazed when they find God's voice unclear. Ministry among least-reached people groups often requires a refinement or even a redefinition of what we might think missions and mission trips are about.

Prayer is the beginning, middle, and end of any meaningful short-term trip. If you don't intend to pray, don't plan to come - it's that important. As you pray, also commit yourself and/or your team to developing a team of prayer partners who will pray daily for you while you are in Metro New York. Use the following resources to help you think and consider what God's heart for the world is all about and to spur discussion and thought among your team as you prepare to join us in ministry.

MEDITATE ON 2 CORINTHIANS 1:3-11

Ask:

- That God would encourage and sustain His workers in this area through the prayers of many and that many more would be called to join them in prayer
- That God would comfort His workers who are enduring affliction just as He comforted His Son
- That pray-ers would be aware that many workers are burdened beyond their strength, some to the point of death

Ask that God will:

- Bring about a true harvest, one that nurtures and sustains and one that reproduces on an increasingly grander scale
- Begin a movement in your home church to call out laborers to an unreached people group
- Enable leaders in your church to see the direction in which He is leading them to be in partnership with this people group
- Make clear the involvement you should have in the years to come
- Provide workers with a variety of skills for this partnership
- Confront you personally with His claim on your life until you are at peace with Him

DAY 12 – WORSHIP

MEDITATE ON JEREMIAH 29:7, 11-13

Begin your day:

- Praising Him for who He is
- Thanking Him for what He's done, is doing, and promises to do through this prayerwalk
- Blessing God for His careful and individual concern for your life
- Letting your heart overflow with the joy of His promises to you

BUT SEEK THE WELFARE OF THE CITY WHERE I HAVE SENT YOU INTO EXILE, AND PRAY TO THE LORD ON ITS BEHALF, FOR IN ITS WELFARE YOU WILL FIND YOUR WELFARE... FOR I KNOW THE PLANS I HAVE FOR YOU, DECLARES THE LORD, PLANS FOR WHOLENESS AND NOT FOR EVIL, TO GIVE YOU A FUTURE AND A HOPE. THEN YOU WILL CALL UPON ME AND COME AND PRAY TO ME, AND I WILL HEAR YOU. YOU WILL SEEK ME AND FIND ME. WHEN YOU SEEK ME WITH ALL YOUR HEART.

JEREMIAH 29:7, 11-13

Prayer Walking: An Introduction

What is it?

PRAYER WALKING IS PRAYING "ON-SITE" WITH INSIGHT FOR SPECIFIC AREAS AROUND YOU, AND COVERING THESE AREAS WITH GOD'S PRESENCE AS YOU WALK.

Why do people go prayer walking?

Walking allows you to be physically integrated in a particular place, it gives you time to be sensitized to all the sights and smells. You begin to pray with your whole body, not just your mind.

By physically placing yourself in a place, you are likely to become more aware of the specific things that you should be praying for. Issues that probably would never have occurred to you if you'd been sitting at home with your eyes closed!

Walking is an act of confidence in God's power over a particular situation. You are acting out everything that you hoped, believed, prayed and petitioned for in that place. You yourself may feel small and useless, but your physical presence in that situation displays the exact opposite.

One of the most important effects of your presence in a place is its demonstration of your love and concern to the people there. You are an important witness to anyone passing by or working in buildings you are praying over. Whether or not they understand exactly what you are doing, few can fail to be affected by the simple fact that you not only have noticed them, but also that you care for them - this is equally important, whether they are on the giving or receiving end of the injustice you are praying about!

By spending a substantial length of time slowly passing through an area while remaining in God's presence, you begin to see it through His eyes. You will develop a greater understanding of the place - what its real needs are and what God could do in that situation.

Not only does it develop understanding, the whole activity of prayer walking motivates people to become much more involved in the issues that God has guided them towards. It is a great example of God changing people, putting them in a much more powerful position to be able to change things themselves.

Finally, the action of prayer walking inevitably stretches your faith, encouraging you to be more confident and aware of God's leading. Not only this, but many people who go prayer-walking describe powerful examples of God's love in action as they learn how to pray more effectively by actually doing it, strengthening their faith even further.

Practicalities of Prayer Walking

I. Begin with worship

Dedicate yourself and the next few hours to God and concentrate on Him.

Read a passage from the Bible, to focus your attention on what you are about to do and remind yourself why you are doing it.

Be quiet before God for a while and listen to Him just before you go out in order to tune yourself in to His voice.

2. Relationships within the team of prayer walkers

Make sure everyone in your team gets to know each other properly before you begin, so that you are all familiar and comfortable with each other.

Most importantly, make sure effective prayer is not being compromised by disagreements and annoyances between members of the team.

3. Organizing the walk

Divide into groups of 2 or 3, so there are enough in a group to support each other (remember that prayer is fortified by agreement), but not too many so that some people are unable to hear or participate properly. Make sure that confident or experienced prayer walkers are split up between the groups.

Decide on a route that will cover all the areas that you feel need prayer, for whatever reason. Different groups can walk in different directions and may take longer over certain parts than others. Give enough structure that groups do not get lost, but not so much that excessive time is taken over figuring out directions. Decide how much spontaneity you want to allow groups to have, dependent on how well they know the area.

How long are you going to spend? Make sure that all the groups know when they should return, but be flexible in the timing. One or two hours is usually what is recommended initially.

What specifically are you praying about? Most prayer walks combine a balance of three elements, whatever the specific issue. These are worship; spiritual warfare and creating a welcome for Christ. Many walks concentrate on an issue e.g. praying for God's presence in a particular area, such as a university campus. Some people take out a small Bible and read out passages, as they feel relevant to a particular situation.

Most importantly, make sure that you take time to define the purpose of the prayer walk beforehand. What is it you want God to achieve in that place?

Potential Problems

Be careful that the prayer walking itself does not distract you from Jesus. The essence of doing this is to walk, wanting Christ to come into the area you are walking in.

Spiritual warfare. Most prayer-walkers recognize that the evil that exists in their environment will resist our prayer as we take them out. However natural communication with God should be, it may become harder, requiring persistence and patience.

Although many people soon find this is something that comes naturally, at first, the idea of walking along, talking to God in small groups may be very strange and difficult. But the most amazing thing about prayer is that we learn to pray by actually praying, and so it will become easier with persistence.

“AND HE SAID TO THEM, THE HARVEST IS PLENTIFUL, BUT THE LABORERS ARE FEW. THEREFORE PRAY EARNESTLY TO THE LORD OF THE HARVEST TO SEND OUT LABORERS INTO HIS HARVEST.”

MY STORY & HIS STORY

AS we connect with people, we begin by hearing their story.

This helps us understand what they believe and may be trusting in for salvation. Often, a very effective bridge to the gospel is sharing our story, how we came to know Christ and have our sins forgiven. By sharing our story, we open up the opportunity to share Jesus' story, the gospel. Only by hearing the gospel do people have hope of having their sins forgiven. By observing how they respond to the gospel, we learn the condition of their heart, and if they have been prepared to receive Christ. Our job is not to save people, but to expose them to the power of the Gospel so that the Holy Spirit can convict them of sin and show them the way of salvation.

Please spend time completing the 'Telling My Story' page. Try to keep your testimony to about 1 minute. This will help you as you connect with people. Make sure your story is relevant to people who are not from a Christian Background. If you were saved at a very early age and have trouble writing out your salvation story, share a testimony of a time God intervened in your life and changed things for you.

After completing the 'Telling My Story' page, spend time learning the "Gospel Dialogue" as a way of sharing Christ. Take the opportunity to share your story and the Gospel Dialogue with someone who is not yet a Christian before your next team meeting.

Telling My Story

READ JOHN 4:4-42.

Notice how God used the Samaritan woman's simple testimony as a bridge to point her people to Jesus (v. 29). But the story didn't stop with her sharing her testimony. The people then heard Jesus' word for themselves (vv. 39-42). This is our goal in sharing our testimony- introducing people to Jesus and helping them discover God's Word for themselves.

PREPARE YOUR OWN TESTIMONY.

Your story should have one key adjective describing who you were before Jesus and one key adjective describing what changed once you met Jesus. Try to keep it to around 60 seconds.

OPENING QUESTIONS

1. Are you religious?
2. Most people are similar in that we are all trying to figure out how to get our sins forgiven. As a Muslim, what do you do so that you can know for sure that God will forgive your sins?
3. That's interesting. As a follower of Jesus, I can know for sure God forgives my sin, not because of anything I have done, but because of God's perfect and final sacrifice for sin. In fact, every follower of Jesus can know for sure.

I know for sure because Jesus was the perfect and final sacrifice for our sin. From the very beginning, God planned for this. God tells us in the Injil that without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sin.

This was the message of the Prophets - Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses, David, and others. They all pointed to One who would eventually come to be a perfect and final sacrifice for sin. In fact, one prophet even called Jesus the "Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world."

And this is exactly what Jesus did. He came to earth and lived a perfect life. Then, He was sacrificed as the perfect sacrifice of God. Three days later, God raised Him from the dead to prove that this sacrifice was accepted.

Jesus promises that all those who believe in His sacrifice, turn from their sin, and follow Him will be forgiven and will be able to spend eternity with God. As God tells us in the injil, "If you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved". That's how I know for sure that God forgives me and I can be with Him forever.

INTRO TO ISLAM & CULTURAL TIPS

The words “Islam” and “Muslim” are spoken frequently in America but are rarely understood - they often conjure up images of fear, terror, misunderstanding and confusion. Attention is usually focused on the most violent, but what is often ignored are the millions of normal, peaceful Muslims trapped in a religion of works. What exactly do Muslims believe? To help answer this question, a brief article on the basic beliefs of Islam is provided.

In interacting with people from a Muslim background, it is crucial to learn about their daily life - culture and traditions - shaped by their worldview and religion. Some examples that will likely be relevant during your time with us are listed in the section on cultural tips.

What do Muslims Believe? A Brief Introduction to Islam

The Five Pillars

In practice, Islam is a religion of action more than of reflection. What matters are the outer deeds. Participating in the following five actions is what makes a person a Muslim:

1. The Witness (Shahadah) - To recite and believe the creed, "There is no God but Allah and Muhammad is His prophet" makes a person a Muslim.

For this reason, it is whispered into the ear of newborns and into the ears of the dying, becoming the first and last thing someone hears.

2. Ritual Prayer - Most Muslims are expected to pray five times a day (the Qur'an does not specify a number) while facing Mecca. Men are encouraged to gather at a masjid (Mosque), while most Muslims expect women to pray at home. The times are roughly dawn, mid-day, mid-afternoon, sunset and two hours after sunset.

3. Fasting - Ramadan is a month of fasting from sunrise to sunset in remembrance of Allah's provision of the Qur'an. Fasting is from sunrise to sunset when Muslims abstain from all food and drinks. Pregnant and nursing women, the sick and those traveling are allowed to miss the scheduled times of fasting, but they are expected to make it up later. There are also lesser fasts individuals can take at other times.

4. Giving of Alms (Zakat) - The giving of alms is seen by Muslims as an opportunity to share the blessings that God has given them with their community. Everyone is expected to give one-fortieth (2.5%) of his or her accumulated wealth annually. It can be given directly to the poor or to a masjid or an Islamic fund.

5. Pilgrimage (Hajj) - At least once in his or her lifetime each Muslim is expected to travel to Mecca in order to participate in re-enactments of key events in Islamic history. All participants wear the same clothing to symbolize universal brotherhood. Traveling at any other time is known as the lesser pilgrimage, or "Umrah."

Basic Doctrines

These are the standard doctrines and practices of Islam, but not all Muslims would accept all of the following points. The following sentence is a brief introduction to Islamic doctrine and contains the six main points in the traditional order:

Allah speaks through angels who give Holy Books to prophets by which we will be judged according to our fate.

1. Belief in God (Allah)

"Allah (SWT) is absolute, and free from all defects and has no partner. He exists from eternity and shall remain eternal. All are dependent on Him, but He is independent of all. He is father to none, nor has he any son," (Islamic Reader Book 2, p.10).

The name "Allah" was in use before Islam even existed. It is related to the Hebrew word "EL" (i.e. Bethel, house of God). It is the same word used by Arabic speaking Christians, as well as speakers of Bahasa Melayu (Malay language).

He is one. Oneness is very literal and absolute—the greatest sin in Islam is to attribute an equal or a partner to Allah. He is generally not referred to as "Father."

Allah's essential quality is power, but every Surah in Bismillah calls him the Compassionate and Merciful. Love is a characteristic (11:92, 85:14) but it is the love of master to obedient servant - reciprocal love, not unconditional.

There are 99 names (attributes) of Allah - 73 from Qur'an, 26 from Hadith. Each name, when meditated upon, brings certain benefits to the faithful.

2. Belief in Angels

"Angels have been created by Allah (SWT) of fiery material, they are invisible and are neither masculine nor feminine. They never commit sin. They perform their duties assigned to them by Allah (SWT) precisely, faithfully and meticulously" (IRB2, p.11).

God created angels from light and gave them each specific tasks. Only God knows their number.

Islam has a whole range of spirits. Jinn (source of the concept of "genies") that can make themselves invisible, are half demon half human, and are capable of sin and redemption. The Keraman Katibeen are two spirits - one sits on the right shoulder to record good deeds, one on the left to record evil deeds. These "life accounts" will be balanced out in the judgment.

A few angels are named in the Qur'an:

Shaitan (Iblis)—The Devil; a fallen angel (7:10-17) Shaitan refuses to obey Allah (he was supposed to bow down to Adam)

Jibraeel—communicated the commands of Allah to the prophets Israfeel—He will blow the trumpet to announce judgment day Micaeel—Controls rainfall and provides humankind with sustenance Izraeel—Causes death

3. Belief in Holy Books

“Divine Scriptures contain the commands and instructions of Allah (SWT) for the benefit and guidance of mankind. These Scriptures have been revealed to different prophets from time to time,” (IRB2, p.12).

Muslims generally accept the following four holy or “heavenly” books:

Taurat (Law given to Moses/Musa)
Zabur (Psalms given to David/Daud)
Injil (Gospel given to Jesus/Isa)
Qur’an (given to Muhammad)

The Qur’an contains 114 Surahs (chapters). The surahs are further divided into “ayats” or verses.
Jibraeel revealed it to Muhammad in a series of “recitations” later collected by order of length (longest to shortest, with a few exceptions). It was given in Arabic - “God’s language” (20:13 - eternal book, given in Arabic). A person who “protects” the Qur’an by memorizing it is known as “Hafeez.”

The concept of Abrogation teaches that what comes after supersedes what came before, so the Qur’an confirms the Bible, but if there is a contradiction then the Qur’an is said to abrogate the Bible. When there are contradictions in Qur’an, the same idea of abrogation is used, but it’s hard to know which order the Surah/Ayah were written in and Muslim scholars are not in agreement.

Of almost equal authority are the Hadith or “Traditions.” There are many different traditions: al-Bukhari’s collection of tradition is the most widely accepted, but is not the only one.

Muslims believe that the Jews and Christians have corrupted the Bible so any difference between Bible and Qur’an is because the Bible has been changed or corrupted (2:106, 13:39, 16:101).

4. Belief in Prophets

“Prophets were assigned to each and every major community of the inhabitable world for their guidance so that people may act righteously and lead a virtuous life... The Qur’an enjoins upon us not to distinguish between them, particularly in their prophethood... However on the basis of many distinguishable virtues of Hazarat Muhammad (SAWS), he is placed highest among all the prophets sent to this world by Allah,” (IRB2, pp. 15,16).

While the exact number of prophets is unknown (around 125,000), 28 are named in the Qur’an and many others in the Traditions. Six are considered especially worthy of note: Adam, Nuh, Ibrahim, Musa, Daud, Isa and Muhammad. Muhammad is claimed to be the last and greatest of the prophets. The prophets are often considered to be infallible and without sin.

Isa (Jesus) is the “second best” prophet and Muslims have a great love for him but only as a prophet. He is a sign, an example, Messiah, Son of Mary, Messenger, Prophet, Word of Allah, Spirit of Allah and servant. In all there are 97 references to him in the Qur’an.

5. Belief in Judgment Day/Re- surrection

“According to the Qur’an a day shall come, when, by the command of Allah (SWT), the angel Israfeel shall blow the trumpet so forcefully and furiously that excepting Allah (SWT), the Creator of the universe and the Sustainer of life, and to whomsoever

He wishes, everything else will be annihilated,” (IRB2, 17).

“After total annihilation the world will be resurrected and mankind will be brought back to life by the command of Allah (SWT) to account for their deeds and misdeeds,” (IRB2,
p. 20).

Those who follow and obey Allah (and Muhammad) will go to Paradise, described in the Qur’an as a very sensuous place with women and wine.
Those who die in jihad or while giving birth or while on Hajj will go directly to Paradise. For others, their deeds are weighed in scales and the good deeds must outweigh bad.

Hell is reserved for those whose evil deeds outweigh their good. It is described in 101:8-11 as a raging fire.
Most Muslims believe that there can be release from Hell (more like the Catholic doctrine of purgatory) for those who have even one atom of faith.

6. Belief in Decree of God/Fate

“The concept of destiny implies that man does not know what future awaits him... According to the belief of Muslims, Allah (SWT) alone knows whether he/she is destined to become good or bad. This however does not imply that one should not make an endeavor to achieve what one wants to,” (IRB2, p.19).

God is absolutely sovereign and His will determines all things and there's no way out. This belief is the root of the statement Insha-Allah (If God wills--compare James 4:13-15).

Cultural Tips

RELATING WITH OTHERS

- Muslims are generally not strict about time. They value flexibility and hospitality over rigid schedules and appointments. They are people (not task) oriented.
- Use the greeting “Selam” when you meet a Muslim.
- Touching or shaking hands usually is limited to members of the same sex. If a woman offers her hand to a man he may shake it, but men usually do not offer their hand to a woman.
- Be careful not to grab a Muslims’ hand or lay your hands on them while praying for them. They may see this as unclean. This could be distracting or even offensive.
- Be conscious of dressing modestly and appropriately according to their culture.

WHEN ENTERING A HOME

- Always bring a gift to the host when you are invited into their home (dessert/chocolates/candies, flowers, gift, etc.)
- Muslims generally do not wear shoes inside the home. When visiting their homes, it’s best to take your shoes off before entering their home, unless told otherwise.
- Tea is a staple! Expect to drink a lot of tea whenever you are invited into a home. Three cups of tea is sometimes considered the minimum amount a visitor will be expected to drink.
- Men and women sometimes sit separately. Wait for the host to seat you to avoid a potentially awkward situation.
- Wait for the host to ask you to eat, even if the food is already sitting in front of you.

WANT TO IMPRESS THE LOCALS?

- Learn a little of the language while you’re here. A few words can go a long way toward endearing you to people.
- Eat Turkish or Arabic food whenever you can.
- Learn about Muslim cultures while your here by asking questions and listening to what those you interact with have to say.
- Do some research on your own before you arrive.
